

Grant Herbert

Describing himself as an ordinary guy with an outstanding wife and 5 amazing kids, Grant has a passionate message to share about being authentic and living the life you were created to live.

By using experience from his own journey of imperfection, he has empowered thousands of people to escape the performance trap, cut themselves some slack, learn from their experiences and enjoy success in being whoever they are called to be in every area of their life. His workshops and coaching programs help you to develop personal, professional and leadership skills that are not taught at university.

With over 35 years as a leadership trainer and coach, Grant has learned that the key to developing others is to first help them replace the mindsets and behaviours that are currently sabotaging their results. Once that platform is built, they actually implement what he teaches them. This ensures a high ROI.

Whether it is in the corporate boardroom, the business seminar or the conference venue, he will inspire in you a desire to change and then show you how to do so. In his own authentic yet powerful way, he will guide you through your surface story into the real issues hidden below.

Grant is the founder and Global Managing Partner of People Builders, a leading supplier of training and coaching solutions throughout Australia, New Zealand, Asia, South Africa, UK and the Middle East. Grant is a certified Master Trainer in the Neuroscience of Performance and Leadership, Social + Emotional Intelligence and Behavioural Profiling. Grant was recently awarded for his global leadership in the fields of training and coaching by the World HRD Congress in Mumbai. Engage Grant today to bring out the best in you and your team.
